

The IDEA think tank of CERGE-EI and the Institute for Employment Research would like to invite you to a public panel discussion:

The advent of e-mobility and robots: Chances and challenges for labor market

May 29, 2019 | CERGE-EI
17:00 – 18:30 | Politických vězňů 7, Prague 1

PANELISTS:

Sabine Pfeiffer | University of Erlangen-Nuremberg
Jan Švejnar | Columbia University and IDEA of CERGE-EI
Manfred Wulff | Volkswagen
Jan Klesla | Ministry of Industry and Trade of the Czech Republic

MODERATOR:

Štěpán Jurajda | IDEA at CERGE-EI

- How will the expansion of e-mobility and automation processes affect Czech and German labor markets and the educational and vocational systems?
- How will these developments affect firms and workers? E.g., which qualifications are needed in the future?
- What are the challenges for policies? How could they effectively foster the benefits and limit the negative consequences for the society?

The event is part of the conference 'Labor market challenges in times of globalization, technological and demographic change'. The event will be simultaneously interpreted from German to English. It will be recorded and made available as a video on the IDEA website.
